

Provides Case Management for Senior Services

Caring for our older loved ones requires patience, careful planning, collaboration, and the appreciation that their care involves more than just the individual. Family members, caregivers, clinicians, and their friends expect and deserve an advanced level of coordination of services, even in the most difficult of circumstances.

Effective care is driven by reliable and multi-dimensional information. Mental health issues, cognitive decline, and medical challenges can create a confusing and complicated intervention strategy. Knowing how to maintain a quality of life, effectively address medical and psychological issues, and support the emotional needs of family members can feel like a daunting task.

The VitalClient solution is a holistic and comprehensive data system designed to improve collaboration of caregivers, provide real-time access to data for clinical services, and provide enhanced opportunities for family members to maintain their contact and involvement in the care of their loved ones.

A variety of evaluation tools are available within the VitalClient system. Physical health, cognitive assessments, and quality of life measures can provide important information to guide effective service delivery. Moreover, advanced technology – such as video conferencing and telehealth – provide the ability for family members to visit with their loved ones without traveling to the facility, or offer the opportunity for clinical care providers to establish intervention strategies remotely.
